Blochin: The Living and the Dead / Blue Eyes / Arne Dahl

Two of the MIPTV highlights from ZDF Enterprises (ZDFE) were selected for this year's Berlinale Special Series. The first is Blochin: The Living and the Dead, a thriller that tells the story of the policemen from a homicide unit, and the second is Blue Eyes, a political crime thriller set in present-day Europe. Also on the company's slate is the second season of Arne Dahl, a Scandi-noir drama based on the crime novels by Jan Arnald, whose pen name serves as the show's title. "All three series have already received many accolades, [be it] through the high ratings of their previous seasons, the enormous attention they received during their world premieres...or the international success of the novels they are [based] on," says Fred Burcksen, the executive VP and COO of ZDFE.

Blue Eyes

"I have no doubt that these productions will be of great interest to any fiction buyer with the right prime-time slots."
